

Privacy Policy

Click Broadband (ABN 34 002 600 876) respects its customers' right to privacy of their personal information. This Privacy Policy outlines how we collect, store, use and disclose the personal information that you provide us with. Personal information is any information which identifies you.

This Privacy Policy also confirms Click Broadband's obligations under the Privacy Act 1988 (including the National Privacy Principles) and the Telecommunications Act 1997.

By using the Click Broadband website, you agree to the terms of the Privacy Policy.

1. Why do we collect personal information?

1.1 Click Broadband is required to collect certain details of your personal information in order to provide you with telecommunication services and products

1.2 We use the personal information you provide to us to enhance the products and services that Click Broadband offers to you.

1.3 If you don't provide us with the information required, we may not be able to provide you with the products and/or services you want or we may be restricted in the way we provide products and/or services to you, especially if the collection of that information is required by law.

2. What personal information do we collect and store?

2.1 If you apply for our services or products, we will collect information about you to help us to identify you, assess your application, provide you with the services and products you have requested, administer your account with us, and for related purposes. The information we collect will include your name and contact details and may also include other details such as your date of birth, driver's license number, residential address, email address, bank account details, employment history and, if necessary for payment purposes, your credit card or direct debiting details. We may also obtain credit information about you from a credit reporting agency or from a credit provider.

2.2 To provide you with our services and products and to administer your account with us, we will generate and process information about how you use our services and products (such as the type, time, location and duration of phone calls or other communications, the numbers you call and how much you spend).

2.3 You may sometimes also need to provide personal information to us about other individuals (for example, another user of your account with us). If you do so, you warrant to us that you have: their permission to provide to us their personal information to enable us to collect, use and disclose that information in accordance with this Privacy Policy; and referred them to this Privacy Policy and any privacy statement that we have given you.

2.4 When you apply for one or more of our services or products, we will usually tell you that we will contact you towards the end of the contract period with us to let you know the further options that are available to you. We will usually also ask you if you would like to be contacted by us from time to time to keep you up to date with information about the products and services offered by Click Broadband and its affiliates and business partners and, if so, how you would like to be kept updated.

3. Do I have to provide my personal information?

3.1 It isn't mandatory for visitors to our website to provide personal information unless we require the personal information to answer an inquiry or provide a product and/or service. We may require visitors to our website to provide personal information voluntarily, for example, to enter a competition or complete a questionnaire. Wherever it is reasonable and practicable, we will allow our customers to transact with us anonymously.

4. How do we collect personal information?

4.1 We collect your personal information in a number of ways, including: When you order online, or make a service enquiry, or similar; From other companies in the Click Broadband group, namely groups belonging to Motion Telecom Pty Ltd, such as Motion Cards. From third party companies like credit reporting agencies, law enforcement agencies, Click Broadband's suppliers, agents, contractors or other telecommunication service providers; From publicly available sources of information like government and regulatory authorities; When you visit our website, online store, Facebook page and other pages that we own and manage; During recordings of calls made when you contact Click Broadband. These calls may be recorded for training, quality and business purposes and you will be informed of this at the time of your call; and From our mobile base stations and other equipment that may collect information about your usage (including location-based information).

4.2 Circumstances in which you may choose to provide these details to us include when you enter our competitions or games, agree or ask to receive information about products and services offered by us and our affiliates and business partners, download software from the Click Broadband website, register your details so you may gain access to a particular section of the Click Broadband website, or send us a query about our products or services.

4.3 However please note that when you post information to parts of the Click Broadband website that other visitors are able to access, such as on a 'bulletin board' or during an interactive 'chat', you must assume (unless we notify you otherwise in any particular case) that the information you post becomes generally available to the public and we have no ability to control or limit its use by any persons.

5. What about Cookies?

5.1 When you access the Click Broadband website we may store some information (called a 'cookie') about the date and time when you entered the website. We use this type of information to track the patterns of visitors and to examine trends and demographics. This may include identifying which areas on the Click Broadband website are popular.
